

➤ Teach for America: Next Deadline Soon!

Everyone deserves choices in life. But the 15 million U.S. kids living in low-income communities aren't getting an education that gives them the opportunity to make choices. You have the power to help kids get a great education that will give them choices in life. Apply to the 2017 Teach for America corps.

NEXT Application Deadline: Friday, January 27, 2017.

This position comes with full salary and benefits. All majors and career backgrounds are considered.

➤ Career Story Interview: A Unique Approach to Making Decisions

Graduate students in EMU's Master of Arts in Counseling program have organized the Career Story Interview, a process to guide undergraduates through decision-making around choosing a major or career direction. This process includes three (FREE) sessions this semester where undergrad students meet with the second-year MAC students for assessment and action planning.

Session times will be scheduled individually to fit students' schedules. If interested, email Chuck Richards '17 to reserve a spot in the program. (Deadline is January 31, 2017.)

Students must commit to attending all three sessions. Inventories administered will include the Career Story Interview, Career Genogram, Career Timeline and the CareerBeam Quick Profile.

➤ Paid Bakery Internship Available

Plow Creek Fellowship is a small intentional Christian community, set in rural Illinois. They are hiring a summer intern to make and package products, organize them for markets, as well as drive to and sell every Saturday morning at a market.

Housing, free food and stipend will be provided. Visit their website to learn more about the bakery and contact Louise Stahnke to apply for the position if interested.

CAREER TIP OF THE WEEK

Another Reason to Use Social Media in Your Job Search:

It Shows You're Not Afraid of Technology

You don't have to be an expert, but having a social media presence shows you care about your professional reputation and you're comfortable using technology.

Pinterest is especially interesting because it helps you create a visual out of your resume which is traditionally a text document.
