Master Schedule and Participants

Wednesday April 16

A Conversation with David Williams, author of When the English Fall

Faith and Meaning When Our World Falls Apart

Wednesday, 10:15-11:15 am, Lehman Auditorium

Rev. Dr. David Williams will read from his postapocalyptic novel from the perspective of an Amish family, followed by a conversation with Dr. Marti Greene Eads, professor of English, about keeping faith in a world of political instability and climate disasters, and about the role of the arts in making meaning.

Following this event, drop by the East Dining Room over lunch for additional, informal conversation with David Williams, from 11:30 am to 1 pm.

Find more information about David Williams on the ACE Festival keynote speaker page.

2 Engage points available (for the event in Lehman Auditorium only).

Thursday April 18

Pediatric Nursing Toy Display

Thursday, 8:30 am - 3:30 pm, Martin Chapel foyer

Students in the Nursing Care of Children course were assigned to design and build a toy for a specific age, utilizing easily accessible materials. The toy was to be designed with knowledge of the gross and fine motor skills, social skills and cognitive skills for an infant or child of the assigned age, and to engage each of these areas of development through play. In addition, safety considerations were to be incorporated in the design so that the toy poses no risks for the child; or if there are safety risks these are identified and risk mitigation guidance provided.

This is an informal display: no Engage passport stamps offered.

Presenter	Toy Project Title
Odesa Elezi	Mystery sensor box
Elijah Spicher	Busy board pediatric toy project
Abigail Foltz	Toy project for 9-month-old
Gabriella Seal	Nursing 325 toy project

Arts Club Exhibition

All day Thursday, University Commons 177 (Old Common Grounds)

This exhibit will feature 2-D and 3-D works, made by students in the Arts Club.

Navigating Research Ethics: An Introduction to the Institutional Review Board

Thursday, 8:45-10:00 am, Campus Center 226

Curious about how research involving human participants is reviewed and approved? Join us for a presentation from EMU's Institutional Review Board (IRB), where we'll demystify the ethical principles and review process that ensure research at EMU is conducted with integrity and respect for participants. Whether you're a student, faculty member, or staff interested in research, this session will provide valuable insights into submitting proposals, obtaining approvals, and understanding the importance of ethical research practices.

Members of EMU's Institutional Review Board: Sara Halteman, Jenni Holsinger, Carol Hurst, Danny King, Hongtao Li, and Tim Seidel

1 Engage passport stamp available.

EMU Authors' Reception and Award Presentation

Thursday, 2:15-3:30 pm, University Commons

Hall of Nations and Student Union

Join us for a celebration of academic achievement at the 16th Annual EMU Authors Reception and Award Presentation! This event, hosted by the Provost's Office, is a special opportunity to honor the remarkable achievements of our university community. We'll be recognizing and celebrating:

- Winners of the Excellence in Teaching Awards
- Recipients of student academic awards
- EMU faculty, staff, and students who have published scholarly works in the past two years

The event will begin with a gathering in the Hall of Nations, featuring live music and refreshments. During the reception attendees will have an opportunity to meet our accomplished authors, browse their published works, and celebrate their incredible contributions to scholarship - followed by the formal program where we will highlight our award recipients.

1 Engage passport stamp available.
