

"Sharing the Passion of Teaching: Training Cooperating Teachers as Caring Mentors "

A presentation given by the MidValley Consortium given February 14, 2011 in Orlando Florida at the ATE National Conference and videotaped by the ATE National Field Director and posted on youtube.

The MidValley Consortium encourages clinical faculty and student teachers to focus on improving K-12 student achievement through a variety of co-teaching strategies. Co-teaching is a major emphasis during clinical faculty training. Five co-teaching approaches are briefly discussed below. They include:

- One teach, one support;
- Parallel teaching;
- Alternative teaching;
- Station teaching; and
- Team teaching.

Part 1: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pXSmgNYpikc>

Part 2: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gY-vfz_bu2U

Part 3: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=j2hvk8fAqwY>

Part 4: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nhXTDEUTflw>

Part 5: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=51bGdpFViDk>

Part 6: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=q5vFp2YFpHY>